

Start with the right questions, then build the right response.

The United Republic helps organisations define the real problem, shape the right strategy, and guide the work that follows.

We work with government, brands and complex organisations to make sure they are solving the right problems before investing in campaigns, content, media, stakeholder activity or creative development.

Start with a strategic diagnosticSee how we work

What we do differently

The United Republic helps organisations start with the right questions, define the real problem, and build the right response before investing in execution. We use strategic clarity, audience understanding, evidence-based planning and practical problem definition to make sure the work is focused on what matters most, where it can have the greatest influence, and how it can create the strongest outcome.

We then help bring that strategy to life by identifying and briefing the right partners for the task at hand. Rather than pushing work through a fixed agency model, we build the right team around each challenge, drawing on the best specialist talent to deliver campaign execution that stays true to the strategy. That means clients get clear thinking up front, the right expertise in delivery, and work designed to perform in the real world.

Why clients engage us early

✓ We start with the real problem, not just the brief

✓ We focus on what matters most and where it can have the greatest influence

✓ We combine strategic thinking with practical delivery direction

✓ We identify and brief the right partners to bring the work to life

✓ We stay focused on outcomes, not agency process

Our methodology

The United Republic Creative Methodology

01

Start with the foundation, not the finish

Brilliant work begins with the basics. We start by understanding audiences deeply, identifying the true challenge, quantifying what matters most, and mapping the barriers, segments and behaviours that will shape success. Strategy comes first, and everything else follows from that.

→ Understanding your audiences deeply

→ Identifying the true challenge, not just the symptoms

- Quantifying the challenge and where influence matters most
- Mapping segments, barriers and behaviours
- Building strategy grounded in data and insight

02

Ideas first, not creative concepts

We develop what we call an Ideas Brief, not a traditional creative brief. This creates audience-first direction that guides everything that follows. We stay media-neutral from the start, build around what engages and influences, and shape execution by bringing together the right combination of message, medium and meaning.

- Ideas Brief, not traditional creative brief
- Media-neutral thinking from the outset
- Focus on what influences and shifts behaviour
- Build from message, medium and meaning
- Prioritise the right idea over the biggest idea

03

The right team, every time

We do not run a fixed creative department or force work through an agency machine. We build the right team around each challenge, bringing together the best senior specialists for the job. That keeps the work tailored, lean and focused on outcomes.

- No bloated departments or fixed agency structure
- Specialist teams built around the challenge
- Senior creative and execution partners selected for fit
- More flexibility, less overhead
- Focus on outcomes, not outputs

What we do

Diagnose

We identify the problem behind the brief.

Audience and stakeholder insight
Communications review
Brand and positioning diagnosis
Behaviour change strategy
Message and narrative assessment
Strategic problem definition

Design

We turn complexity into a clear plan.

Communications strategy
Campaign architecture
Message frameworks
Content planning
Channel planning
Stakeholder engagement strategy
Launch sequencing

Direct

We help the strategy survive contact with reality.

Agency and partner briefing
Implementation oversight
Strategic project leadership
Internal team support
Creative and content review
Alignment across stakeholders

Measure

We help clients understand what worked and what to do next.

Campaign evaluation
Performance reporting
Message testing
Post-campaign review
Refinement planning

Built for complex organisations

Government and public sector

Purpose-led organisations

Complex stakeholder environments

Brand and reputation challenges

Behaviour change programs

Multi-channel campaigns

Projects that need strategy, alignment and implementation discipline

Experience across high-stakes work

Australia Post

Toyota

Ford

Hyundai

Subaru

Panasonic

Kaplan

Stockland

IAG

QBE

SA Lotteries

TAFE Victoria

DFAT Smartraveller

Yellowtail

Yalumba Wines

Accolade Wines

Caltex Woolworths Petrol
JV

BWS

Barnardos Australia

Hipages

AQIS Quarantine Matters

Australian Avocados

ECSCA

KU Children Services

Nova Systems

Strategic communications work across brand development, retail campaigns, content strategy, and implementation for organizations spanning automotive, financial services, government, retail, wine and spirits, technology, and social sectors.

Book an initial conversation

How We Work

Services

Case Studies

About

hello@theunitedrepublic.com.au

Contact Us

Why Strategy Works